2 & 2A The Old Police Station, Emerald Street

Saltburn-By-The-Sea, TS12 1ED

£370,000

Welcome to The Old Police Station. A rare freehold opportunity offering two beautifully converted 2-bedroom apartments located inside a chapter of Saltburn's history.

Built in 1874, as proudly marked in the original brickwork, this striking property began life as Saltburn-by-the-Sea's police station on Emerald Street, serving the town faithfully until the 1930's. Today, it stands as a brilliant example of how historic architecture can be thoughtfully repurposed for modern living. The building has been lovingly and intelligently converted into two self-contained, high-quality holiday let apartments, each with its own private entrance and distinct character. Period charm blends seamlessly with contemporary finishes, from the inviting log burner in the ground floor apartment to the light-filled open-plan layouts throughout. Outside, a surprisingly private front forecourt provides a calm buffer from the town centre buzz, while the rear yard and brick-built outhouses add valuable storage and practicality.

With each apartment on its own individual title deed, while being sold together with the freehold of the entire building. This provides an unusually flexible and attractive ownership structure, appealing to both investors and owner-occupiers alike.

Whether you're looking to step straight into a ready-made, successful holiday let business, or acquire two exceptional apartments in a prime coastal location, this is a rare and versatile opportunity that simply doesn't come around often.
