

THE KING'S COLLECTION

ELEGANT NEW HOMES WITH AN EXCEPTIONAL FINISH

Set between restored Gertrude Jekyll gardens, recreated heathland and chestnut coppice, each home at The King's Collection has been designed by City & Country's specialist in-house architects and interior designers to offer the discerning homebuyer the best of everything. Our superior specification and attention to detail are intrinsic in the appeal of our homes. From glorious framed views across gardens and landscape, to contemporary kitchens and luxuriously appointed bathrooms, every appliance, fixture and finish has been carefully considered.

Thoughtfully selected materials and traditional craftsmanship ensure these homes offer sophisticated apartment living, while complementing the Grade II* listed heritage aesthetic of King Edward VII Estate. Natural shades reflect the gloriously rural setting, and provide a calm and understated backdrop to your life. Step inside our homes and you will immediately sense the quality of the design and finish of the Arts and Crafts period.

Triple glazing, state-of-the-art heating systems and appliances by leading manufacturers ensure our new homes are energy efficient, while the latest technology offers maximum control and security features for your peace of mind.

"When designing The King's Collection, it was important we created a building that embodied the design ethos of the sanatorium, a modern interpretation of the Grade II listed building that brings together a traditional design language and the very best in modern materials, technology and efficiency."
