A firm local favourite, this welcoming pub is known for its cracking Sunday roasts and charming miniature railway, making it a hit with little ones and grown-ups alike. The apartment occupies the first floor of a converted Victorian house, with a large and bright lounge/diner to the front (currently used as the principal bedroom) and two well-proportioned bedrooms. A contemporary fully tiled bathroom and kitchen are positioned in the middle of the property, both with windows for ventilation. The property also benefits from a share of the freehold.
