SITUATION

Park Hatch House enjoys a peaceful position in the small rural hamlet of Loxhill, between Hascombe and Dunsfold, in one of the quietest corners of the Surrey Hills. The estate sits within the metropolitan Green Belt, the Surrey Hills AONB and an Area of Great Landscape Value, with Hascombe Hill- a designated Site of Nature Conservation Importance - close by. Transport connections are excellent for a rural location: the A3 links easily to the M25, and Godalming station offers frequent services to London Waterloo from around 46 minutes.

The area is also well served by highly regarded schools, including Charterhouse, Cranleigh School, Prior's Field, St Catherine's, and a selection of respected preparatory options, with further choices in Guildford.

PARK HATCH HOUSE

Park Hatch is an estate rich in heritage and enveloped by the quintessential Surrey countryside. Once home to an elegant 18th century mansion, the estate retains much of its historic character, from its original garden walls to its beautifully preserved grounds. The original estate was made up of over 300 acres.

Park Hatch House is a modern country house built in 2014 by the current owners. It's elevated position delivers impressive views across the Sussex Weald, from the North to the South Downs and over Hascombe Hill and the deer park.

Designed in a Palladian style, the house features a cantilevered staircase beneath a glazed roof pyramid, which lights up the impressive entrance hall, hand-cast plasterwork, marble fireplaces and stone or cushion cut limestone floors. The high-efficiency construction includes specialist glazing, extra thick and insulated walls and underfloor heating throughout, powered by two air-source heat pumps. A double garage, wood store, wine cellar and storage rooms sit alongside the house (planning permission approved for the conversion of part of this outbuilding to allow for more living space).

The 12.5-acre grounds include formal gardens, lawns to entertain or for children to play, there is a stunning mature woodland which leads down to a large lake, a haven for wildlife. Spaced throughout the grounds are some notable specimen trees such as Lebanon cedars, oaks and rhododendrons.

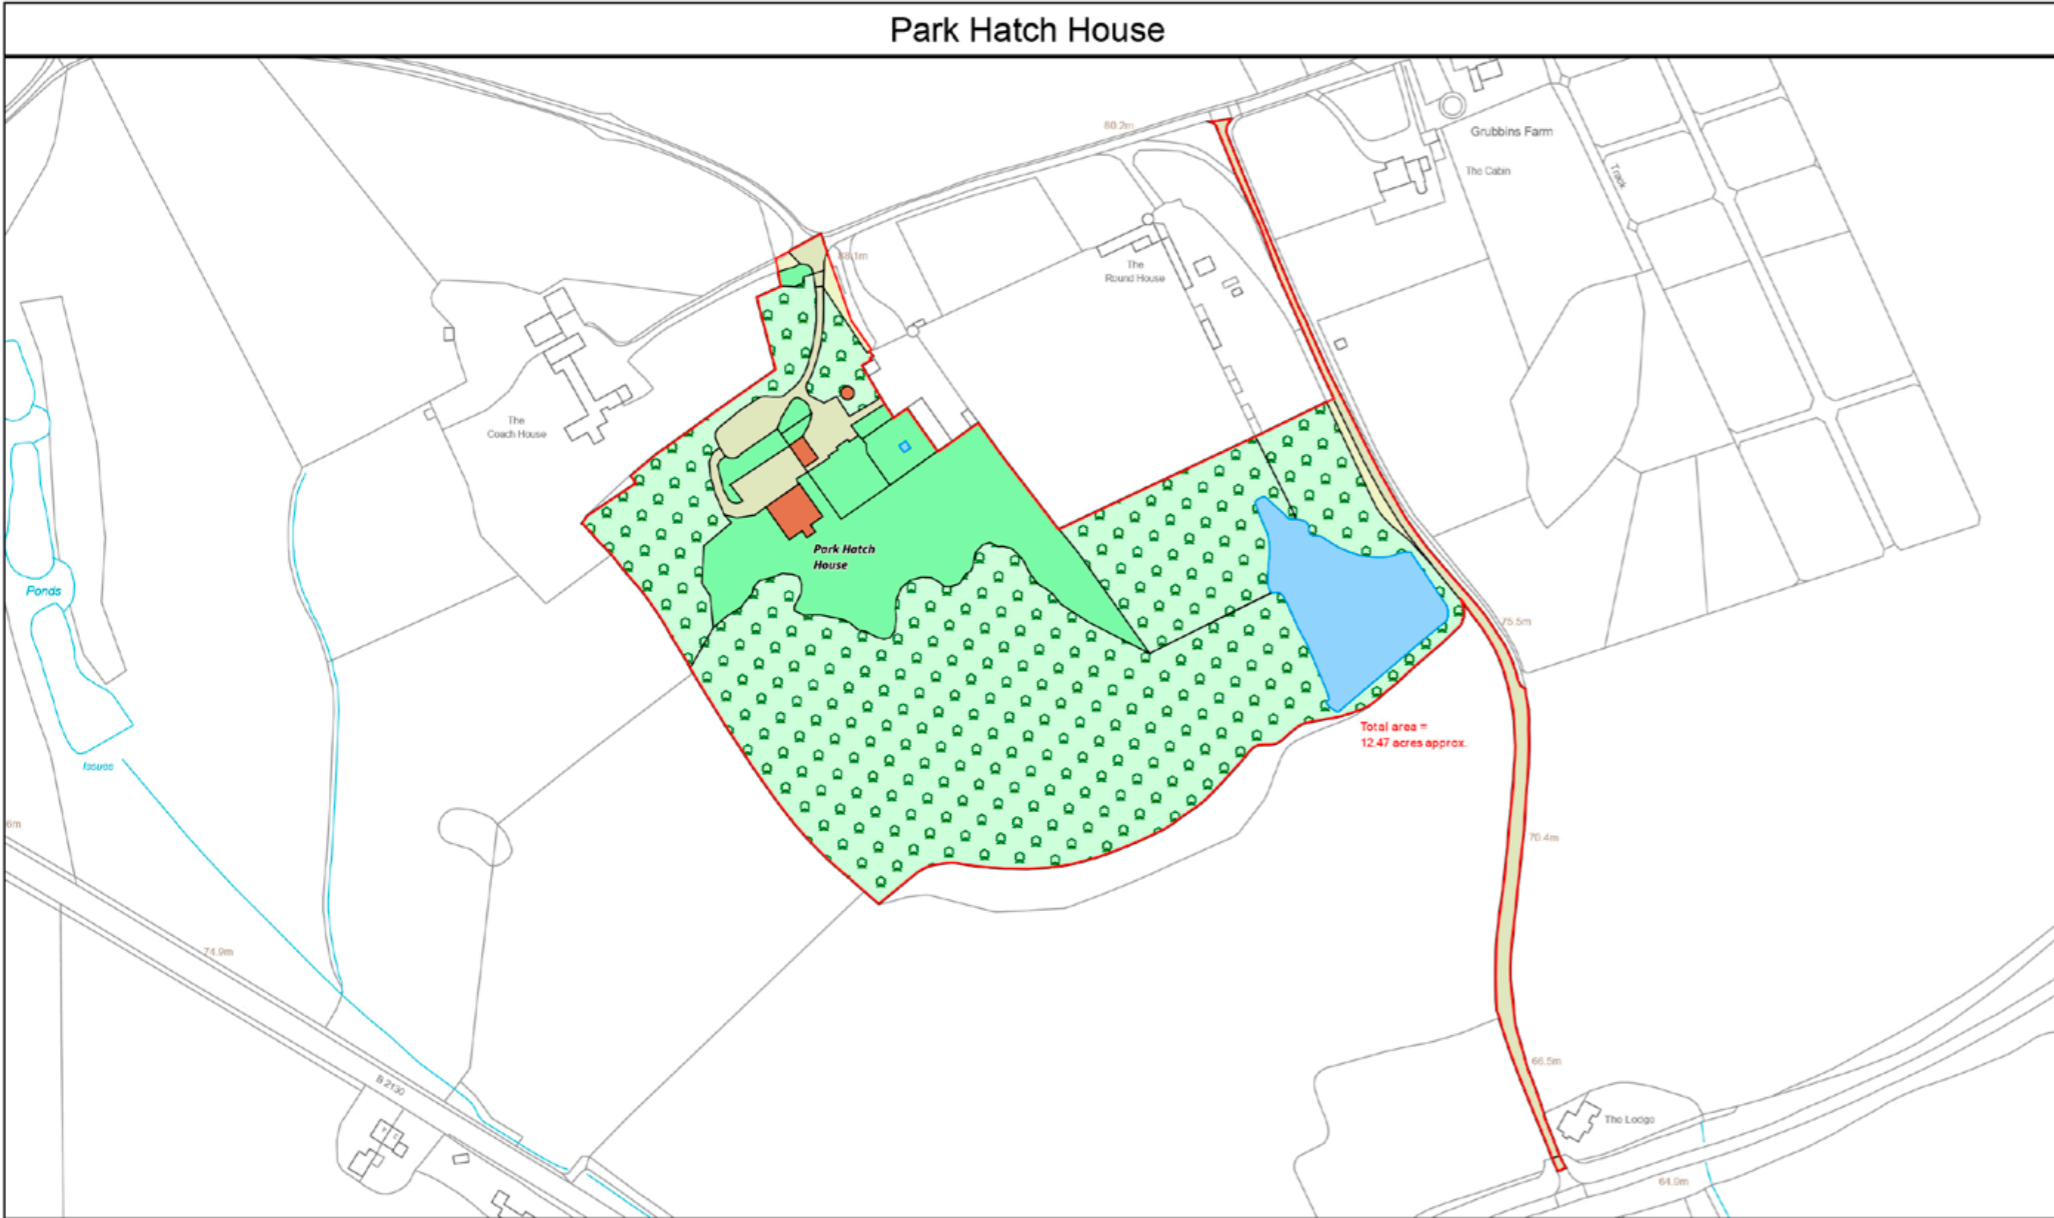

Further information is available at www.parkhatch.com, where the owners have shared the history of Park Hatch along with their work to rebuild their home and restore the surrounding gardens and grounds. The site also features historical research, family connections, and blog-style updates documenting discoveries and their progress throughout the restoration.
