location

Badwell Ash is a small village surrounded by attractive Suffolk countryside retaining its public house, church, village shop and primary school. New housing in Back Lane and on the Street has seen a rejuvenation of the population, with more children and younger people moving into the village. Although many residents commute to Bury St Edmunds or into the city of London the introduction of Broadband also allows many to work from home too. The village sits just 10 miles from Bury St Edmunds, an ever popular town with its excellent range of shops, businesses, sports and leisure facilities and rail link to London. Stowmarket (12 miles) and Diss (15 miles) both have railway stations on the Norwich to London Liverpool Street line with a journey from London to Stowmarket taking around 70 minutes.
