A Distinguished Coastal Residence with Sea Views, Exceptional Gardens and Timeless Character

Setting the Scene

Some homes quietly tell you they're special before you've even stepped inside.

Set well back from one of Broadstairs' most desirable residential roads, Number 108 enjoys an impressive sense of arrival. A sweeping driveway curves through generous front gardens, creating privacy and presence long before you reach the front door. Elevated above the road, an elegant veranda stretches across the front of the house, providing the perfect place for morning coffee while enjoying glimpses of the sea through the surrounding trees.

The architecture immediately sets this home apart. Confidently designed with symmetry, generous proportions and an abundance of natural light, its handsome double-fronted façade is centred around a striking circular glazed entrance door—a wonderful original feature that hints at the home's distinctive period character. Beautifully preserved bevelled glazed internal doors, broad bay windows and impressive ceiling heights continue that story throughout, giving the house a personality that feels both elegant and enduring.

Linked only by the adjoining garages, the property enjoys all the privacy and presence of a detached home while sitting within one of Broadstairs' most sought-after coastal locations.

Take a Look Inside

Step through the beautiful circular entrance into an elegant reception lobby before passing through the original bevelled glazed doors into the welcoming hallway. Instantly, the house feels bright, spacious and wonderfully balanced, with generous ceiling heights and natural light flowing effortlessly from room to room.

The principal sitting room is a beautifully composed space, framed by large bay windows, complete with plantation shutters and
