Maes Y Bryn

Set quietly at the end of a cul de sac in Pontprennau, this detached home offers a composed and carefully presented interior with a natural flow between its living spaces and garden. The house has been maintained with a consistent, neutral palette, allowing each room to feel calm, balanced and ready to adapt to a new owner's style.

The living room sits to the front, while the kitchen and dining space form the heart of the home to the rear, opening directly onto the garden. This connection between inside and out works particularly well for both everyday living and hosting, with light drawn through from both aspects. Upstairs, three well arranged bedrooms include a principal room with its own en suite, alongside a family bathroom, all finished with a practical and considered layout.

Pontprennau remains a popular choice for buyers seeking convenience without compromising on green space. Nearby, you have access to well regarded local schools, supermarkets and amenities, while Cardiff Gate Retail Park and the A48 and M4 links are within easy reach for commuting. There are also nearby walking routes and green corridors that connect through the surrounding areas, adding to the overall appeal of the setting.

A well balanced home in a quiet position, offering ease, comfort and accessibility in equal measure.
