ROOTED IN HISTORY

Once a rural hamlet, Stoke Gifford has evolved into one of Bristol's most sought-after residential areas while retaining its village character and identity.

Historic landmarks, mature landscapes and strong community connections sit alongside major employment hubs including Airbus, Rolls-Royce and the University of the West of England. Continued investment across North Bristol - including the landmark Brabazon regeneration - further enhances the area's long-term appeal.

Oxbarton Grove reflects this balance perfectly: a carefully designed modern development that respects its surroundings while delivering the comfort, efficiency and style expected of contemporary homes.
