Adjacent to Bangor's main high street, 57 Caellepa is a four-bedroom contemporary home with the option to include bills in the rent. All bedrooms come with wooden floors with feature rugs, an array of storage furniture and a bed. The living space is located within the conservatory making it a great communal area, especially in the summer months. The spacious kitchen contains a dining table and chairs, as well as laundry facilities. The bathroom is unique not only due to its colourful design but because of how large it is, containing a walk-in shower and separate bathtub as well as a toilet and sink. Being so close to the main high street has its benefits, as many local and chain shops, restaurants, pubs, cafes and supermarkets can be reached within minutes. In addition, the University's main building is just fifteen minutes away.
