

Plympton Road NW6

London

Guide Price

£985,000

Lateral living at its finest! Arranged over the ground floor of this imposing Victorian end of terrace, this property comprises entrance hall that leads to the principal bedroom with high ceilings, large bay window, good built-in storage and modern en-suite shower room. Adjacent to this is the second bedroom with equally high ceilings and plenty of natural light and a contemporary family bathroom. The hallway leads down to the open plan living room with modern, contemporary kitchen, bathed in natural light and south facing this room opens onto the mature gardens with seating patio lawned (artificial grass) area and gated, off street parking. The third bedroom also opens onto the garden. Further benefits include air conditioning in the living room, a large basement storage area and a long lease.

Plympton Road is a desirable residential road in the Brondesbury conservation area. Brondesbury station on the Mildmay line is a short walk away and the cafe's bars and restaurants of both Queens Park and West Hampstead are nearby.
