Introduction

The property showcases a wealth of period features including exposed beams, stonework, a medieval archway and an impressive cruck frame. The layout provides excellent versatility, with multiple reception rooms, two kitchens, generous bedrooms and scope for an annexe or independent living arrangement. Outside, the grounds offer a peaceful rural setting with views across open countryside, complemented by a detached granary/studio – ideal for creative use, home working or conversion potential (subject to permissions). Situated within a quiet, low-crime area yet within easy reach of Llandrindod Wells, the property offers the perfect balance of seclusion and convenience. This is a home that will appeal to buyers seeking a lifestyle move, a heritage retreat, or a property with income-generating potential.

The accommodation comprises: entrance porch, hall, two ground floor reception rooms, one first floor reception room, kitchen/breakfast room, utility, five bedrooms, three bathrooms, dressing area and a small second kitchen. The property also has a detached former granary which is now a double garage with external steps leading to an attic studio space that could be a home office/gym.

Property description

On entering the property through the front door you find a central hall with period door leading off to reception rooms on the ground floor. To the left you find a wonderful medieval stone arch with period door leading into the reception room currently used as a dining room with large Inglenook fireplace, stone hearth, bread oven and a large oak beam. The room has windows to the front and rear and has stairs rising to the first floor and a door into the kitchen/breakfast room which is fitted with a range of traditional wooden wall and base units, space for appliances and a lovely blue AGA, exposed beams and under the carpet tiles are quarry tiles ready to be uncovered and refurbished. Across the hall is a second living room with exposed Oak frame, double aspect windows and a period door leading into a handy utility room, shower room and a bedroom.

From the dining room the period staircase with exposed stone walls wraps around up to the first floor where you find two bedrooms, the larger bedroom has the exposed Cruck frame on show and has a dressing area with walk in wardrobe and views from the window onto the mountain behind. The bathroom is fitted with a traditional four piece suite with white tiling, patterned wall paper walls and a window overlooking the gardens.

The second staircase rises from the rear porch and leads up to a second landing with doors leading to two bedrooms, both with exposed timber frame and a shower room fitted with a traditional three piece suite. There is a living/dining space with Velux windows and a window to the side flooding the room with light and a door off to a small kitchen area. This space offers buyers flexibility to create an annexe for family or for income from tourists visiting the area.

Gardens, garage and parking

The property has a gated entranceway with bespoke made double gates leading to the gravelled driveway with parking for a number of cars. There are double garages with up and over doors, stone walls and have a room above that has been used a studio space but has potential to be developed further into ancillary accommodation.

The gardens are to the rear and side of the property with a patio area running across the front, steps leading down to the driveway and a lawned area with a rockery to the side and area for seating. There are a wealth of established plants, trees and shrubs and areas of lawn. The garden has real scope to be landscaped into spectacular space and enjoys views over the Wye Valley and surrounding mountains.
