Description

The thoughtful ground floor reconfiguration has also created excellent flexibility, with the attractive bay-fronted reception room currently offering the potential to be used as a wonderful bedroom, home office or additional reception space, depending on the requirements of the next owner. A useful downstairs cloakroom adds further practicality. On the first floor are two particularly well-proportioned double bedrooms, together with a beautifully appointed family bathroom that is a real showstopper. Throughout the property, a wealth of carefully selected details complement the overall finish, including bespoke plantation shutters, attractive period fireplaces, beautiful traditional-style radiators and a host of other thoughtful touches. The result is a home that successfully combines the character and proportions of a Victorian property with the comfort, flexibility and quality expected of modern family living.

To the front, a smart block-paved driveway provides valuable off-street parking, while the rear offers a private, low-maintenance southerly facing garden, complete with a detached garden cabin. Ideal for storage, a home office, gym or creative space, the cabin adds another dimension to this already highly versatile home. There is also potential to extend into the loft, subject to the usual planning permissions, offering further scope to enhance the accommodation and tailor the property to future requirements. This is a particularly impressive Victorian home, where the sympathetic retention of period features combines seamlessly with an exceptional contemporary extension and thoughtfully considered layout. The result is a genuinely individual property offering outstanding living space, superb flexibility and a wonderful connection between the home and garden. With its blend of character, modern design and practical features, this is a home that is both beautiful and exceptionally well suited to modern family life.
