A Characterful Stone Cottage with Space, Potential and Village Charm:

Set in the heart of a popular village, this handsome mid-terraced stone cottage offers an impressive 1,500 sq ft/140 sq m of living space and an exciting opportunity for someone to shape a delightful period home to their own style. Full of character, warmth and possibility, it is a property with the rare combination of generous proportions, village convenience and the freedom to modernise at your leisure.

The welcoming sitting room is filled with natural light from its traditional style sash window, while the large open fireplace with its beautiful stone surround creates an atmospheric focal point that perfectly complements the cottage's heritage. Beyond this lies a wonderfully versatile dining room, generous in size and easily accommodating a dedicated study area or reading nook — ideal for today's lifestyles. The kitchen, positioned to the rear, provides excellent scope for reimagining the layout and finishing it to your own taste, whether you dream of a contemporary redesign or a cottage-inspired scheme. Upstairs, the theme of space continues with two particularly roomy double bedrooms, each with fitted wardrobes. A modern shower room adds comfort and convenience, and gentle countryside views from the upper level offer a daily reminder of the peaceful setting.

Outside, the cottage continues to impress. There is parking for two cars, a valuable asset in a village location, along with a private courtyard garden complete with a useful store room. To the front, the garden offers wonderful potential to create a charming approach — perhaps with cottage planting, a quiet seating spot, or a colourful border to enhance the kerb appeal. With no onward chain, the next chapter for this home can begin without delay. With heart, history and a wealth of potential — this is a truly inviting place to put down roots.
