DESCRIPTION

The Old School House is a charming character property beautifully positioned in the picturesque Broadland village of Potter Heigham. The house dates to Victorian times and retains many of the period features once commissioned with lovely fireplaces, skirting boards and picture rails. The current owners have created a superb home which is offered to market in excellent order and will be of interest to buyers keen to establish themselves in a delightful pocket of Norfolk, with access to the nearby coastline and the broads.

The house is approached at the front into a porch and then into a spacious hall providing access to the principal ground floor rooms. The hall sets the tone for the house, and is light and airy with a cloakroom, and leads on to the staircase, dining room and access into the kitchen. Much of the charm of the house rests in the two reception rooms, which both feature fireplaces and provide views over the front and side gardens from their respective windows.

The kitchen is a super space with a central island and enjoys a range of integrated appliances. The garden room is situated off the kitchen and provides lovely views over the gardens.

On the first floor there are three bedrooms, and a family bathroom positioned off the main landing. The bedrooms are all comfortable doubles and are in immaculate order.

To the outside, the property enjoys a secluded and wonderfully private garden which is mainly lawned with a mixture of mature shrubs and herbaceous borders. There is parking at the house via a five-bar gate at the side which leads into a shingled hardstanding with parking available for several vehicles.

There is a home office available via separate negotiation and more details of this can be found through the selling agents.
