The current owners have carried out a number of high-quality upgrades, including the installation of a new combi boiler (with full service history), energy-efficient anthracite uPVC windows and doors, engineered oak interior doors, and cavity wall insulation completed this year. Together, these improvements enhance the home's efficiency, style, and overall comfort.

For those seeking future potential, approved architectural plans are already in place to extend the upstairs further, giving buyers the option to tailor the property to their own needs. Storage is plentiful throughout, ensuring the home is as functional as it is attractive.
