Dickens Gate — The Village Green

The Village Green

The village green provides a central open space to relax and enjoy nature. It is easily accessible to all abilities, with paved foot paths. To the south, the open green space has swales and grass bunds. Look out for damaeitties and butterflies here! To the north is an area of woodland, scrub, hedges and ponds. This area attracts, bats reptiles, amphibians and birds that use the scrub and hedgerows for nesting and shelter. Look out for birds like bulfinch, white-throat, goldfinch and linnet!

The Village Green

The ponds at Dickens Gate make great habitat for wildlife. Many of the ponds on site have been introduced to benefit newts. Great crested newts, palmate newts and smooth newts make there home here, with many efts (young) found during monitoring surveys.

The Village Green

The native planting around ponds has been chosen specifically to benefit many species including dragonflies, caddisflies, diving beetles, water boatman, toads and frogs.

How Can You Help Wildlife

There are lots of things you can do to help wildlife, including: putting a small bell on pet cats (lovely as cats are, they are amazing predators and the bell helps warn birds a cat is approaching), keeping your dog on a lead in the wild spaces and creating a wildlife friendly garden to encourage wildlife to spend time there!

By choosing to plant native wildflowers and flowers that attract pollinators in your garden, you will make it even better for pollinators like bees which are very important for the environment. Leaving some sections of your grass to grow will help these to flower.

Compost heaps and log piles may be used by amphibians, reptiles and invertebrates like slug beetles for shelter — this is also great for recycling your kitchen and garden waste! By adding a small pond to your garden, frogs, toads, and newts might make a home in your pond.

A great way to attract birds into your garden, is to put up bird boxes and feeders and make sure they are regularly re-filled.

Bats have even been spotted flying over the water, along hedges and around woodland to catch insects in the summer evenings!
