The property is entered via an attractive glazed porch with an ornate arched roof, providing a practical space for log storage and muddy walking boots after days spent exploring the surrounding fells. From here, you step into a wonderfully light and spacious sitting room, featuring high ceilings, picture rails and a large front-facing window framing spectacular Lakeland views. An impressive fireplace with wooden and slate mantel, inset log-burning stove and marble hearth creates a striking focal point, while bespoke built-in book shelving adds further charm and practicality.

The inner hallway offers useful understairs storage and ample space for coats and outdoor gear before leading through to the characterful kitchen. Fitted with a wide range of wall and base units, laminate worktops and a built-in Belling four-ring hob with double oven and extractor hood, the kitchen also benefits from a stainless steel sink, tall fridge freezer and striking dark flagstone flooring that continues seamlessly into the adjoining dining room.

The dining room is a particularly atmospheric dual-aspect space, full of original charm and period detail. A substantial stone hearth with alcove and original ship's beam above forms the centrepiece of the room, while deep windowsills provide the perfect spot to relax with a coffee and enjoy the peaceful surroundings. A corner cupboard, formerly the entrance to the servants' quarters, adds a fascinating historical touch.

A glazed door from the kitchen opens into a highly practical lean-to utility area incorporating a WC, cold-water sink and additional storage, with access leading around to the front of the property.

To the first floor, a naturally bright landing is illuminated by a skylight set within the high ceiling. Bedroom 1 is an exceptionally spacious king-size room with a large picture window capturing glorious views across the surrounding fells and towards the church in Ambleside. A gas coal-effect fire set upon a slate hearth further enhances the room's character and warmth.

Bedroom 2 is a generous double room overlooking the rear aspect, while bedroom three is a comfortable single room, also positioned to the rear.

Externally, the property enjoys beautifully established terraced gardens planted with a variety of mature shrubs and accessed via steps with handrails. A west-facing sun deck provides the ideal setting for outdoor dining or relaxing while taking in spectacular sunsets behind Loughrigg Fell. There is also a useful brick-built store for gardening equipment and outdoor gear. At the foot of the garden, a wooden gate opens directly onto a public footpath leading conveniently down to Lake Road and the centre of Ambleside.

The property is approached via a private driveway serving several homes and benefits from private parking for two vehicles.

A truly charming Lakeland home combining period character, generous living space and exceptional views, all within easy walking distance of Ambleside's shops, cafés, restaurants and renowned walking routes.
