Individually designed and built in the 1930's this good-sized detached house still retains much of its traditional character whilst having been improved over the years.

The interior is remarkably bright by virtue of its large windows which give views over the gardens. There are two living rooms, each with a fireplace and the sitting room has a door leading to the garden. The kitchen has been re-fitted some years ago with cottage pine cabinets and Aga stove. Upstairs there are four double bedrooms. There is a shower room with separate wc and there is potential to reconfigure these into a large bathroom.

Outside the 'wrap round' gardens enjoy natural privacy and a sunny aspect and there's parking on the driveway with ample space for a new garage or car-barn. Maintained and improved over the years, the house is now ready for its new owners to refurbish and make their own, and there is ample space for substantial side and rear extension subject to the usual consents.
