Approached via a private driveway, the property immediately captivates with its attractive rendered elevations and wealth of original features, including exposed ceiling beams, traditional joinery and character fireplaces, all of which have been sympathetically preserved to retain the home's rich heritage. The accommodation is both spacious and versatile, offering an effortless balance between period charm and contemporary practicality.

At the heart of the home is the superb open-plan kitchen and dining room, a wonderfully sociable space designed for both everyday family life and entertaining. Beautifully fitted with an extensive range of cabinetry and generous worktop space, the room is centred around a feature wood-burning stove, creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere throughout the seasons. Leading directly from the kitchen is a generous walk-in larder, providing excellent pantry storage and practicality.

The principal sitting room is equally impressive, offering an abundance of character with exposed ceiling timbers and a second feature wood-burning stove, creating a warm and inviting retreat. French doors open directly onto the terrace, perfectly framing the spectacular outlook and seamlessly connecting the interior with the surrounding gardens.. Beyond this lies a versatile study, which could equally serve as a fifth bedroom, making it ideal for those requiring additional guest accommodation, a dedicated home office or flexible family living. A downstairs shower room with toilet and a useful utility room complete the ground floor accommodation.

The first floor of the main house provides three well-proportioned bedrooms, all enjoying delightful rural views, together with a beautifully appointed family bathroom, creating comfortable accommodation for both family and guests.

Completing this exceptional home is the self-contained annex, offering outstanding flexibility for multi-generational living, guest accommodation or those seeking supplementary income, subject to any necessary consents. The annex benefits from its own entrance and comprises a welcoming sitting room, kitchen and a generous first-floor double bedroom, allowing complete independence from the main residence. Alternatively, the accommodation could be reinstated as part of the principal house, subject to the necessary planning permissions and consents, creating an even larger family home if desired.

Outside, the grounds are a true highlight of the property. Beautifully landscaped gardens surround the house, providing several seating terraces perfectly positioned to enjoy the magnificent outlook. Beyond the formal gardens, the land extends to approximately 1.12 acres, incorporating a delightful orchard and adjoining paddock, offering endless opportunities for those wishing to keep animals, embrace a smallholding lifestyle or simply enjoy the privacy and tranquillity of a substantial country plot.

At the top of the garden, behind the house, there is a substantial cedar summerhouse incorporating a covered barbecuing area and fitted with electric lighting, power points and a water supply. It is fronted by a stone paved terrace from which the best views over the surrounding countryside, Golden Cap and the sea can be obtained. This provides the property with a delightful and practical outdoor entertainment area capable of handling a substantial number of guests.

Further enhancing the property's appeal is a substantial detached workshop with adjoining stores and additional outbuildings, providing excellent storage, workshop space or potential for a variety of uses, subject to any necessary consents. The workshop is fully equipped with lighting, power points, water, electric storage heating and a wood-burning stove.

Nestled within the Dorset National Landscape, Morcombelake is one of West Dorset's most picturesque villages, ideally positioned just moments from the Jurassic Coast World Heritage Site. The nearby beaches at Seatown and Charmouth, together with the vibrant market town of Bridport, provide an excellent selection of independent shops, restaurants, cafés and everyday amenities, making this an exceptional location from which to enjoy both coast and countryside. The beautiful and historic centre of Lyme Regis is located nearby, with its lovely harbour dating back to medieval times providing excellent sailing and fishing facilities.

Latchetts presents a rare opportunity to acquire an outstanding traditional Dorset longhouse occupying an elevated position with breathtaking sea and countryside views towards Golden Cap, approximately 1.12 acres of gardens, orchard and paddock land, extensive outbuildings and a versatile self-contained annex, all set within one of West Dorset's most sought-after village settings.
