Nestled on Thornhill Road in the charming Barnsbury Conservation Area, this newly refurbished period house offers a splendid blend of modern comfort and historical elegance. Spanning approximately 1,750 square feet over three thoughtfully arranged floors, the property boasts attractive views down Ripplevale Grove, enhancing its appeal.

Upon entering, one is greeted by a spacious open-plan kitchen and living room, designed for both functionality and style. The kitchen features exquisite marble worktops and splashbacks, complemented by high-end integrated Miele appliances and ample storage, all set against a backdrop of elegant wood flooring. At the rear of the ground floor, a well-appointed double bedroom with fitted cupboards and an en-suite shower room provides a versatile space, ideal for guests, staff, or as a private study.

Ascending to the first floor, you will find an impressive full-width reception room, bathed in natural light from three large windows that overlook the picturesque Ripplevale Grove. This inviting space is perfect for entertaining or relaxing with family. The top floor houses two further bedrooms, both equipped with fitted wardrobes, ensuring ample storage. One of these bedrooms opens onto a delightful roof terrace.

Barnsbury is renowned for its period architecture, tranquil garden squares, and peaceful residential streets, all while being conveniently close to the vibrant amenities of Upper Street. Here, you will discover a diverse array of shops, restaurants, cafés, and local services, making this property not only a beautiful home but also a gateway to the best of Islington living. This exquisite house is a rare find, combining historical charm with modern luxury in a prime London location.
