We Say...

Situated in the sought-after village of Pontantwn, on the outskirts of Carmarthen and Kidwelly, this beautifully maintained stone cottage offers an appealing blend of character, versatility and countryside living. Set within approximately 1/5 acre, the property enjoys far-reaching views across the river and surrounding valley, while remaining within easy reach of local shops, schools and amenities. Carmarthen and Llanelli are both around 20 minutes away, with Swansea within approximately 45 minutes.

The interior is filled with natural light and retains charming period features, including exposed timber beams. Two reception rooms and a separate dining area provide flexible living space, complemented by two wood burners. The fourth bedroom is currently used as a home office, enjoying a pleasant river outlook. A well-appointed kitchen, separate utility room and ground-floor cloakroom add everyday practicality.

Upstairs, four bedrooms are served by a contemporary family bathroom featuring both a separate bath and shower. The principal bedroom benefits from balcony doors opening onto a terraced patio.

Outside, the established gardens combine lawn and patio areas, ideal for relaxing or entertaining. A summer house with electricity offers further potential as a studio or workspace, alongside useful storage. The property also benefits from off-road parking for multiple vehicles and is offered as freehold with LPG gas heating.

A fantastic opportunity to enjoy village living with excellent connections—viewing is highly recommended.
