Bedrooms: 2 | Bathrooms: 1 | Receptions: 2

Tucked away in a quiet cul-de-sac, just moments from the centre of Dersingham and a short drive from the Royal Estate at Sandringham, this extended semi-detached bungalow offers a gentler rhythm of living. It's the kind of place where days feel a touch longer, mornings start a little slower, and home becomes somewhere you genuinely look forward to returning to.

Step inside and you'll find a layout that feels both practical and adaptable. The kitchen and dining area sit together at the heart of daily life, an easy, sociable space where breakfasts drift into mid-morning coffee and weekday dinners come together without fuss. It's not overcomplicated, and that's exactly the point.

Beyond this, the living room opens up into something more generous. Light-filled and welcoming, it's a space that naturally draws people in, whether it's an evening with family, a quiet afternoon with a book, or simply somewhere to stretch out and relax. It feels like the anchor of the home, steady and reassuring.

An inner hallway gently separates the more private spaces. The main bedroom offers a calm retreat, complete with fitted storage that keeps everything neatly in its place. The second bedroom is where the home becomes particularly interesting, flexible, adaptable, and ready to suit your lifestyle. Whether it becomes a guest suite, a dressing space, a hobby room, or even an additional sitting area that spills into the garden room, it gives you options without forcing a decision.

The bathroom continues the theme, well-appointed, easy, and designed to support everyday living without distraction.

Outside, the sense of calm continues. To the front, off-road parking keeps things simple. But it's the rear garden that really shifts the tone. Private and enclosed, it feels like a small retreat of its own. Mature planting softens the space, while the gentle presence of a pond adds a quiet, almost meditative quality. It's a garden that doesn't demand too much, just your time, if you're willing to give it.

And with no onward chain, there's a certain ease to the process too. No delays, no complications, just the opportunity to step into something that already feels settled.

This isn't a home that tries to impress at first glance. It's one that grows on you. A place that offers flexibility, calm, and the freedom to shape it around your own way of living.

And sometimes, that's exactly what makes a house feel like home.
