Situation

Homeston Farm is situated in a location of great natural scenic beauty about 7.9 miles from the hamlet of Southend and the sandy beaches that form the southernmost tip of the Mull of Kintyre.

Campbeltown (6.1 miles) is the main shopping town in the area and provides a range of facilities including supermarkets, garages, the award winning 'Aqualibrium' leisure centre, a library, hospital and a cinema. The hospital has an air-ambulance service to the Queen Elizabeth hospital in Glasgow for emergencies.

There are primary schools at Campbeltown Castlehill, Dalintober and a Rural school on Drumlemble Road, all about equal distances apart and secondary education at Campbeltown Grammar.

Campbeltown is popular with tourists and also has a variety of hotels and restaurants. The town holds an annual regatta, a week-long music festival and the Mull of Kintyre half marathon. In addition, there are local whisky and gin Festivals.

Southend is on the southernmost tip of the 'Mull' of Kintyre and its beautiful white sand beaches are washed by the Gulf Stream which provides the peninsular with a temperate climate. The steep rocky cliffs and moorland of the Mull of Kintyre are inhabited by all kinds of wildlife.

Southend has a church, doctor's surgery, hotel, post office, and tearoom.

The coastal village of Tarbert is 47 miles away where there are a number of friendly harbour pubs and restaurants. Tarbert is renowned for hosting the annual Scottish Series Yachting Event, and for its seafood and folk festivals.

Tarbert also has a ferry link to Portavadie which gives access to an alternative route to Glasgow. The nearby Campbeltown airport (9.8 miles) offers a twice daily return flight to Glasgow International Airport.

Machrihanish is famous for golf. The links course of Machrihanish is of international acclaim and attracts many visitors. There has also recently opened a new 18-hole golf course called the Machrihanish Dunes Golf Club.

Southend has a challenging 18-hole course (Dunaverty Golf Course) and there are nine-hole courses in Carradale and on the island of Gigha. The beach of Machrihanish Bay is well known for windsurfing and surf canoeing.

World class sailing is available with access to either Loch Fyne at Tarbert or the west coast and the Inner Hebrides from West Loch Tarbert. The Crinan Canal also connects Loch Fyne at Ardrishaig with Loch Crinan and on to the island of Mull and the Hebrides. The Kennacraig ferry connects the mainland with Islay, Jura and Colonsay. There is an active Sailing Club in Campbeltown as well as kayak, SUP and Diving Clubs all operating out of Campbeltown.

Productive sea fishing from shore and boat is available locally and there are trout and salmon opportunities by permit in other surrounding rivers and hill lochs. The countryside is a delight in which to walk, cycle or horse ride, and there is no shortage of scenic routes and places of archaeological and historical interest to visit.

The islands of Davaar and Gigha are nearby and are steeped in history, with stunning scenery and landscapes and attract an abundance of wildlife. A walkway called the Kintyre Way was completed in 2006 and stretches from Tarbert at the north end of the peninsula, to Southend in the south and criss-crosses the peninsula, connecting communities and landscape, people and produce. The Kintyre Way is 89 miles long in total and with four to seven day's worth of walking. There is serious hiking and gentle rambles, all of which bring home the beautiful reality that is Kintyre.

Homeston Farm

Homeston Farm is a collection of residential property, flexible outbuildings and land. The assets at Homeston Farm represent an excellent and established principal private residency and is also perfectly located as a second or holiday home, or as an income producing investment property. The main house, buildings and land lend themselves suitable for those with equine interests, small scale rare breed rearing or hobby farming. In addition, opportunities may exist, (with the appropriate permissions and consents) to re-establish an income producing livery enterprise.

Homeston Farm is a substantial farmhouse which sits within circa 20 acres of land which is laid to a combination of immediate garden grounds, a concrete courtyard and grazing fields. Homeston Farmhouse has been extended and well maintained over the years and is of white painted render with smooth render relief with contrasting black painted detailing at window mullions. The accommodation is light and bright and laid out over two easily managed levels and is under a slated roof.

Land

The land at Homeston Farm extending to a total of circa 20 acres. Homeston Farm is a registered farm with a farm code (68/152/0056), and the land is predominantly to permanent pasture and grazing land all of which is bounded by a combination of post and wire fencing and stone dykes.

The Lodge and Land

Due southeast of Homeston Farm there is an area of land directly across the farm track which is predominantly to permanent pasture and grazing land with a round horse pen and field shelter on a concrete pad all of which is bounded by post and wire fencing. A very pretty burn known as 'Homeston Burn' wends its way through Achnabraad Glen past Homeston Farm and down through the land.

Located beside Homeston Burn there is a detached Lodge which has been used by the current owners as an income producing holiday letting home.

The lodge is completed in a composite timber effect cladding under a tiled roof and comprises 2 bedrooms, open plan sitting, dining and kitchen, family bathroom with overhead shower. A timber decking is located to the front of the lodge and offers an excellent space for alfresco sitting, dining and entertaining guests.

A Proven Holiday Let Investment Opportunity

Homeston Farm and Homeston Lodge present an excellent investment opportunity, having been successfully operated as established holiday lets. Marketed through leading booking platforms, with Homeston Farm listed on Sykes Cottages and Homeston Lodge on Booking.com, the properties have built a strong reputation, benefiting from consistent occupancy and a proven track record of generating attractive rental income.

Due to upcoming retirement, the current owners chose not to apply for the newly required Short-Term Let Licence. However, as both properties have a long and successful history of operating as holiday lets prior to this requirement, no issues are anticipated with a future application.

This is an ideal turn-key opportunity for buyers looking to take over an established business or expand an existing holiday let portfolio.

Lapsed Planning Permission

It is understood that there is lapsed planning permission for the erection of a dwelling house, installation of septic tank and formation of vehicular access within the land.

Planning reference number: 19/00824/PP.
