

COUNTRY
HOLMES

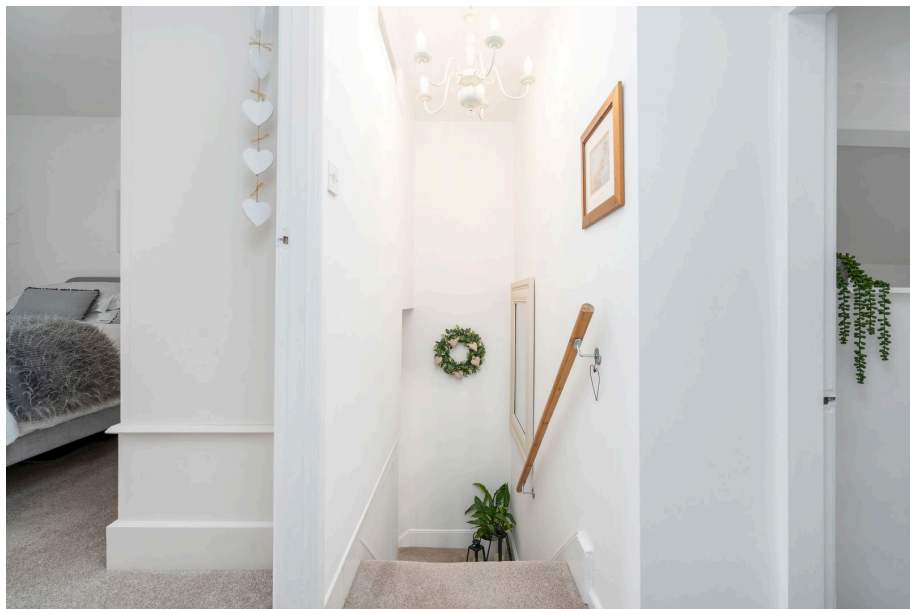

124 Long Lane, Charlesworth

£275,000

🛏️ 2 🚿 1 🛋️ 1

- Charming two-bedroom stone end-terrace cottage dating back to around 1840
- Beautifully renovated and immaculately presented throughout
- Cosy lounge with Morso Squirrel log-burning stove and exposed beams
- Recently fitted modern kitchen diner with integrated appliances
- Stylish, contemporary shower room with large walk-in shower
- Off-road parking to the front of the property
- Attractive paved patio seating area
- Located in the sought-after village of Charlesworth
- Close to local schools, village amenities and Broadbottom railway station

A beautifully presented two-bedroom stone end-terrace cottage dating back to around 1840 and believed to have once formed part of a former public house. Rich in character and original features, the home has been thoughtfully renovated by the current owner to an exceptional standard. The property offers a cosy lounge with a Morso Squirrel log-burning stove, a stylish modern kitchen diner, two immaculate double bedrooms and a contemporary shower room. Externally there is off-road parking and a charming paved patio seating area. Situated in the sought-after village of Charlesworth, the property is close to local amenities, well-regarded schools and Broadbottom railway station with direct links to Manchester, while enjoying woodland walks right on the doorstep.

