Description

A handsome 4/5 bedroom home with the space, flexibility and setting to become a home for forever. Set back from the road in one of Southwell's most convenient locations, it offers a sense of privacy whilst keeping the very best of the town within easy walking distance.

The Minster, local schools, shops, cafés and restaurants are all close by, making everyday life that little bit easier.

Built in 1999, with an extension added in 2005, the house has generous proportions and an understated character. Stone detailing around the windows and front door adds to its handsome appearance, with the new resin drive creating a smart first impression.

Inside, the kitchen and dining space is the heart of family life — somewhere for busy mornings, homework, relaxed suppers and evenings with friends. A dedicated study just off the kitchen provides a proper space to work from home, while the separate dining room is ready for Sunday lunches and long family Christmases. The sitting room is made for quieter moments, with a log burner bringing warmth and atmosphere as the evenings draw in.

Upstairs, the master bedroom is particularly impressive. Created as part of the 2005 extension over the garage, it is luxuriously generous and has its own separate staircase. It could be a private retreat, a space for a grown-up child or visiting family, or offer the possibility of intergenerational living.

Outside, the established garden feels wonderfully secluded, with mature trees creating a little oasis around the relaxed seating area, dining patio and lawn. A garden for summer lunches, drinks with friends and evenings spent beneath the trees.

The Saffrons brings together the qualities that make a home feel lasting: generous space, privacy, flexibility and a location that makes everyday life easy. A handsome Southwell home with room for family life to evolve, and the setting to enjoy it for years to come.
