About Shared Ownership

Are you sick of renting, sky high energy bills and the general uncertainty that surrounds it all? If you want to make 2025 the year you finally get yourself on the property ladder, read on!

We know what you're thinking, "How am I ever supposed to save up a deposit to buy a new home with the ever increasing cost of living and rent?! I'm barely making my monthly payments as it is!"

Saving up for a deposit can feel like a huge task, especially when you already have monthly bills to pay for. With Shared Ownership, deposits are massively reduced meaning you could get on the property ladder with a deposit as low as £5,000!

Shared Ownership lets you buy a portion of a home, and then pay monthly rent on the remaining portion (usually to a housing association or other home provider – in this instance, Legal & General Affordable Homes).

The scheme is aimed at first-time buyers, those with growing families, and other individuals over the age of 18 who fit the criteria and want to get on the property ladder in an affordable way. You'll need a significantly smaller deposit than if you were looking to buy a house outright with a mortgage, which means you could get moving sooner than you thought!

A buyer is able to purchase a percentage of their property (some properties may have minimum shares that you'll need to buy). During the process, you'll have an independent mortgage broker, or a budget planner who can advise on what you can afford. You won't be alone in the journey.

You'll still need to qualify for a mortgage based on your income and credit history, but the deposit and monthly payments can be cheaper than renting privately. Once you've bought a portion of a Shared Ownership home, you have the opportunity to increase your share later on in a process known as "staircasing". Over time, you could increase your share to 100%, depending on the specific allowances of the property you've chosen.
