Dalavich is a charming rural village situated in an area of outstanding natural beauty on the shores of Loch Awe, one of Scotland's most picturesque lochs, renowned for the quality of its fishing, with its wooded shores and numerous small islands. There is a vibrant and thriving local community with a good range of village services including a well stocked shop with Post Office and excellent cafe, and a social club with bar which hosts many activities. The area also provides endless opportunities for outdoor enthusiasts with walking, cycling and kayaking, just a few of the pursuits that can be enjoyed. The principal Argyll towns of Oban and Lochgilphead are within a comfortable driving distance and provide a more comprehensive range of shops and recreational facilities, with Glasgow International Airport around a 90 mile drive.

Number 38 is an attractively presented semi-detached one and a half storey house, set on the fringe of this development of similar properties, originally built as housing for the forestry workers. Bought in 2013 by the current owners, the extremely well maintained property has undergone significant upgrading and benefits from a modern fitted kitchen and shower room, together with an effective gas central heating system, augmented by a multi-fuel stove in the sitting room. There are two bedrooms on the upper floor with one having an en-suite, and the third bedroom is on the ground floor, as is the shower room. In addition, Number 38 includes a self-contained cabin, which is currently successfully holiday let, but adds greatly to the versatility of the property as it could be easily used as a home office or for extended family accommodation. The established garden is beautifully tended providing areas of lawn and well stocked beds, all adding to the appeal of this delightful rural home.
