"One of the many things we love about this house is the light. The sun rises over Plummers Hill open space giving us lovely light for breakfast around the table or a coffee on the decking in the mornings. And because there's ample garden to the side of the house we still get lots of sun streaming through the garden as the sun sets into the evening. We've felt so lucky having the garden backing onto the open space – it's a real gem with allotments and even mini goal posts making it a quiet spot for a walk or kids to play. It also means the house isn't overlooked. The outdoor space has been a sanctuary with mature quince, pear, plum, cherry, and apple trees as well as elderflower and crab apples that we love watching the birds enjoy."
