THE PROPERTY

The front door brings you into the large sitting room with a tiled floor and beamed ceiling. The square bay window contains a lovely window seat and there is an impressive Inglenook containing the wood burning stove* with Bressummer beam above. Adjacent is an study with shower room separately off there. The dining room is the other side of the double fronted house and has a disused fireplace and, mirroring the sitting room, a square bay window with window seat. To the rear is the galley style kitchen with its range of floor units and the floor mounted boiler and access to the garden beyond.

The stairs rise gently to a good landing off which are two bedrooms both with alcoves and built in wardrobes; the larger bedroom being dual aspect. The family bathroom is set between the two bedrooms.

OUTSIDE

The back door from the kitchen leads to a small patio path and al fresco dining area with steps leading up to the long garden. The garden has been lovingly planted by the owner over the years and is a mature garden with different flower beds up along the approximate 165ft garden finishing with gates to a track back to West Steet. There is lapsed planning (from 1989) for a double garage at the end of the garden.

The 'Piggery' serves as the outbuilding and until recently was used occasionally as extra accommodation. There is an electricity supply creating opportunities to convert to more permanent use, subject to consents.

SITUATION

Fontmell Magna is a charming North Dorset village some four miles south of Shaftesbury. The village has an excellent community, village hall, award winning primary school, church, pub and village shop with post Office and there are some amazing views over the dramatic surrounding countryside. Blandford Forum and Shaftesbury cater for everyday needs and the large towns of Poole, Bournemouth and the cathedral city of Salisbury are within 45 minutes' drive. There is some fantastic walking and riding countryside in the immediate area and excellent schools in both state and private sectors. There are good road links to Gillingham for rail services to London Waterloo and the A303 is also accessed just north of Gillingham.
