22 Main Street

Newbold Verdon, Leicester, LE9

Quite incredible spacious accommodation is on offer within the walls of this 19th century converted former public house situated in popular West Leics village with a range of local shops, eateries and a local school. The property has been carefully converted to a 6 bedroom stunning property which would provide a large family home or a business possibility subject to the usual consents. The conversion has carefully maintained the charm and character of its former dwelling yet has full gas central heating powered by two boilers, double glazed timber windows and well equipped kitchen and bathrooms throughout. There are many impressive features such as the open reception hall with log burner, splendid living kitchen with twin ovens & quartz worktops and central island and the stable block which could be converted into several uses. Add to that the large private enclosed gardens and hard standing driveway for multiple cars and you have a tremendous family house. Freehold. Council tax band F
