DESCRIPTION

A welcoming front porch opens into a charming reception room, perfectly positioned between the kitchen and sitting room. This inviting space features parquet flooring and a traditional wood-burning stove, creating a warm and characterful heart to the home.

Upstairs, the sociable sitting room has been thoughtfully extended to maximise natural light, offering bright, versatile seating areas ideal for relaxing or entertaining. The kitchen retains its cosy cottage character while providing ample space for dining, complete with a range of built-in units and a stone fireplace (currently used for storage).

A split-level landing leads to three individually styled bedrooms, along with a family bathroom that also serves as a practical utility area. From this level, a stable door opens out to the rear gardens, where thoughtfully arranged seating areas provide the perfect setting for enjoying long summer evenings.

The gardens rise gently towards the edge of Rodborough Common and include a superb timber-framed home office, ideal for remote working or creative pursuits. To the front of the cottage, there is a useful parking area providing space for one to two vehicles.

DIRECTIONS

The property is most easily found by leaving Stroud on the A46 in the direction of Nailsworth. Turn left (just after the entrance to Aldi), into Kitesnest Lane. Continue to the top turning right into Kingscourt Lane, keeping to the right heading down the narrow lane before bearing left past the Kings Head pub. Continue for approximately ½ mile where the property can be found on the left hand side

LOCATION

Kingscourt is a small hamlet set into the side of Rodborough Common, a glorious expanse of open countryside, free for anyone to access and enjoy. The views are spectacular but the real attraction is the space, some 650 acres or more to roam at will, taking in the adjacent Minchinhampton Common, with its challenging 18-hole golf course.

With a traditional village pub and popular primary school, the other incentive to living in Kingscourt is its proximity to Stroud - the main market town in the south-west of the Cotswolds. Here there are four major supermarkets, plus a good range of independent retailers and even an award-winning Farmers' market!

There is a good choice of secondary schools locally including two grammars in Stroud itself and an adult education college.

From the town's mainline station direct services into London Paddington are scheduled from 90 minutes and all the main regional centres of employment are within commuting distance, including Swindon, Gloucester and Cheltenham, while access to the M5 at junction 13 is excellent for Bristol or the West Midlands.
