I love that this property still retains some of its original features while being modernised throughout. The larger-than-average garden would also be a big selling point for me — it's flat and enjoys sunshine all day long.

We loved that our home sits within the catchment area for the schools we hoped our children would attend. It has suited our family perfectly for many years, offering generous living space inside and a wonderful garden where we've spent countless days together. It's been a fantastic place to raise a family, with plenty of room to relax, play and grow.
