Some homes offer space. Others offer opportunity. Two Moors Way House delivers both. Built by the current owners as their forever family home, this exceptional contemporary property is offered together with two beautifully converted detached cottages, creating a unique country estate extending to approximately 3.9 acres. Less than a mile from the thriving village of Witheridge, it combines outstanding architecture, exceptional energy efficiency and remarkable flexibility in one of Mid Devon's most accessible rural locations.

The main house has been designed around modern family living, with over 4,000 sqft including the oversized double garage. A breathtaking double-height entrance hall leads to magnificent open-plan living spaces centred around a stunning kitchen, dining and family room with vaulted ceilings, bi-fold doors and bespoke cabinetry. Alongside are a comfortable sitting room with woodburner, cinema or games room, generous study and one of the largest utility rooms you'll find, complete with its own island, extensive storage and a first-floor laundry chute. Whilst there are four generous double bedrooms upstairs, including a luxurious principal suite with dressing room and ensuite, the flexibility of the ground floor means the house can easily evolve with family life, whether that's additional bedrooms, a gym, yoga studio, hobby rooms or further reception space. Every detail reflects the fact that this was built as a home rather than a development, with quality and practicality taking priority over compromise.

What makes this property truly exceptional, however, is what sits alongside it. The Old Hayloft and The Old Tractor Shed are not simply holiday cottages; they are two beautifully finished, fully independent residential homes. Each enjoys its own title, separate services, private parking, generous gardens and hot tub, making them equally suited to multi-generational living, long-term letting, guest accommodation or continued holiday use. Currently operating as a successful holiday business, they provide an established income stream whilst retaining complete flexibility for future owners. It's a combination that's becoming increasingly difficult to find: the ability to bring family together whilst maintaining independence, or to generate an income without sacrificing privacy.

Outside, the estate offers approximately 3.9 acres including landscaped areas around the house, generous terraces for entertaining, pasture paddocks, streamside land and young woodland planting. Planning permission also exists for an agricultural storage building, providing further flexibility for those wishing to make greater use of the land. The main house benefits from an EPC A rating with air source heating, underfloor heating throughout and a substantial solar PV array designed so battery storage could be incorporated in the future if desired. Whether you're looking for an extraordinary family home, a multi-generational lifestyle, a home with income or simply a property unlike anything else currently available, Two Moors Way House offers a rare opportunity to enjoy all of those things in one remarkable package.
