Prospective purchasers maybe pleased to know that the neighbouring property, Neptune House, is also on the market and is another successful holiday let. This would seem to present an ideal opportunity for buyers seeking to acquire two properties for investment purposes, or alternatively to live in one while generating an income stream from the other. The residences are both currently owned by the same vendors with the convenience of external access between the two properties provided from the rear decking area.

Situated in arguably one of Porthleven's most sought after areas of Loe Bar Road is this three bedroom, semi-detached house. Enjoying simply stunning sea and coastal views, the residence benefits from oil fired central heating and double glazing. Arranged into reverse level accommodation to take full advantage of the breath taking outlook, the residence is currently run as a successful holiday let. There is the added bonus of a parking space located close by, which with parking being at a premium in the village, we are sure this will win favour with prospective purchasers.

In brief, the accommodation comprises a hall, shower room and completing the ground floor, two bedrooms. On the first floor is a fabulous open plan kitchen/diner, w.c. and a further bedroom. Located on the other side of the adjoining property, Neptune House, we are advised that there is a private driveway with parking space and behind which is a useful store room. To the rear of the property is a pleasant garden area which has a raised decking, which would seem ideal for al fresco dining and entertaining.

Porthleven is a vibrant, picturesque fishing village and mainland Britain's most southerly port. The village is renowned for its many highly regarded restaurants, long beach, surfing, rugged coastline and clifftop walks. Community groups are thriving within the village with sports' clubs and a prize-winning brass band which can be heard echoing around the harbour on many a summer's Sunday evening.
