AGENTS' NOTE

The property behind retains the ownership of the driveway to the right side of Rossendale. This is designated on the forecourt by the stones inserted. Rossendale has a right of access across the driveway. This is not a public right of way and is for the use of the owner behind and trades such as the gardener. The access should not be obstructed.

As will be noted by some of the pictures, the property will need some redecoration. It is also likely that a new owner will refit the kitchen although it is possible that someone may opt to remove the conservatory, extend and knock through into the kitchen.

LANGFORD

Langford is a village in the West Oxfordshire district of Oxfordshire, England. It lies about 3 miles (5 km) northeast of Lechlade in neighbouring Gloucestershire. The Church of England parish church of Saint Matthew is Saxon. In about 1200 the Early English Gothic north and south aisles were added, and in the 13th century the chancel was rebuilt. St Christopher's is the village primary school. The Bell is the local public house with a good reputation and there is a thriving cricket club.
