The Old Post Office is an impressive and substantial detached residence; originally constructed in 1824, but has been sympathetically improved and enlarged in more recent times and provides exceptionally well proportioned and versatile living accommodation which is likely to be attractive to prospective buyers looking for such outstanding space and flexibility. The property also has the benefit of the most delightful mature gardens which are bordered on three sides by farmland and enjoy tranquility, privacy and seclusion, together with breathtaking, spectacular view over rolling fields and beautiful countryside and is serviced by nearby Royston and St Neots mainline stations. There is also an extensive driveway/parking area and detached double garage, in all the plot extends to approximately one acre.

LOCATION

The property occupies an idyllic and rather special semi-rural position towards the edge of this most desirable and sought after village with its own fine church, inn, post office, and Longstowe Hall which is a historic country estate used nowadays for weddings and has open gardens. The village is also conveniently placed for access to major commuter links including the A1198 which proves access to Royston to the south and St. Neots to the north west, which both have main line stations with good commuter links. The university City of Cambridge is about twelve miles and the larger village of Bourn which provides more extensive amenities is just two mile away and the village is in the catchment for Comberton Village College.

To the other side of the house there is a most attractive garden area laid to lawn with a great variety of shrubs, well stocked borders and hedgerow around, small raised vegetable area and timber summerhouse.

Immediately adjacent to the property itself there is a delightful paved terrace partly covered with a high vaulted verandah above with three sealed unit double glazed Velux windows, external lighting and a pair of gates provide access to the main gardens which are located at the rear of the property.

Immediately adjacent to the rear of the house there is a secluded and generous paved terrace with low brick walling to side and this in turn leads to the rear gardens. The beautiful and generous mature rear gardens are a very special feature indeed and are principally laid to lawn with very well stocked borders, rose beds, shrubs around. The gardens are in various sections but are mostly laid to lawn with some areas that have been allowed to retain their more natural state and spring bulbs. There are a great number of fruit trees, a greenhouse, areas to enjoy the special setting and tranquillity with farmland on all sides visible through gaps in the hedgerow and trees. In all the plot extends to approximately one acre.
