INVESTMENT

Derby is one of the East Midlands' most dependable buy-to-let markets, and DE1 is its core. Prices here stay well below the England average, keeping the entry point low while rents rise against a persistent shortage of stock. Roughly 20,000 households across Derbyshire sit on housing waiting lists, and central two-beds are the fastest-moving apartments in the city. Rolls-Royce employs around 12,000 people locally, anchoring a deep advanced-manufacturing and rail-engineering economy, while the University of Derby supplies a reliable graduate and professional tenant base. Regeneration is accelerating the story, with the £200m Becketwell scheme and its Vaillant Live arena and the £100m Castleward Urban Village reshaping the streets around this postcode.
