A Grade II listed thatched cottage set in an elevated position, with wraparound gardens, generous parking and a flexible layout that combines period character with practical modern living.

The property retains many of the features that make traditional cottages so appealing, while having been carefully maintained with important improvements carried out over time. The thatched roof has recently had its ridge renewed, with the remaining lifespan expected to be around 10–15 years.

Inside, the ground floor offers a choice of living spaces and useful flexibility. The dining room centres around an inglenook fireplace with bread oven, while the lounge provides another character feature with its own inglenook, heavy beam, bread oven and a certified multi-fuel stove set within a lined chimney. Built-in storage and drawers add practicality alongside the original details.

The kitchen combines traditional style with modern convenience, fitted with cream shaker units, a Rangemaster cooker with gas hob and electric ovens, matching extractor, integrated fridge, dishwasher and bins, there is plenty of space for a dining table within the kitchen.

A separate utility room includes a sink, storage and space for laundry appliances, with a garden outlook. To the rear is a wet room shower with a WC and sink, a great practical addition to the ground floor.

The ground floor accommodation is particularly flexible, with a further room currently used as an office but equally suitable as a bedroom. A bright sunroom provides another adaptable space, working well as a study, playroom, library or occasional guest bedroom with sofa bed. Doors open directly onto the patio and garden.

Upstairs, there are three double bedrooms. The principal bedroom benefits from bespoke solid wood wardrobes, south and west-facing windows and views towards Dartmoor. A further front-facing double bedroom and a third bedroom with built-in storage provide comfortable accommodation for family or guests. The bathroom is a bright modern room with full-height tiling, bath with electric shower, vanity unit and two windows bringing in natural light.

Outside, the property sits within established wraparound gardens, with lawns, patios, sun terraces and a variety of seating areas. The cottage garden style planting includes a wide selection of roses and mature shrubs, creating a private outdoor setting that enjoys good levels of sunlight throughout the day. A gated driveway provides parking for around five to six vehicles, with access to an integral garage. A greenhouse and shed are also included, and the enclosed nature of the garden makes it practical for pets.

Overall, this is a character home where the traditional features have been thoughtfully retained alongside the improvements needed for comfortable everyday living. The combination of flexible accommodation, established gardens, parking and far-reaching views creates a rare opportunity to enjoy a well-maintained piece of Devon heritage.
