Offered to the market for the first time, this family home offers a rare opportunity to acquire a detached period bungalow set within approximately five acres, located in the sought-after rural hamlet of Earlswood in Monmouthshire. With panoramic countryside views, established gardens, paddocks, self-contained one-bedroom lodge/annexe, along with a range of substantial outbuildings. This is a lifestyle property with scope for buyers to create a highly individual rural home, business base or a multi-generational living arrangements.

The property combines the charm of stone-fronted bungalow and original stonework with the practical benefits of significant recent infrastructure investment, including a new roof, upgraded insulation, solar panels, boiler, radiators and oil tank. The interior offers generous proportions and an opportunity for modernisation, allowing incoming purchases to design the finish around their own needs while retaining the setting, land, views and existing improvements.

A key feature is the detached one-bedroom lodge/annexe, which has its own access, electricity and water. This provides flexible accommodation for extended family, guests, home working or potential income use. In addition, the Dutch Pole Barn benefits from authorised permitted development for studio/workshop use.

The grounds extend to approximately five acres and include private gardens, two paddocks, a large south-west-facing patio which enjoys all-day sun and beautiful sunset views over Wentwood Forest. There is also a large double garage, a substantial block-built workshop and further outbuildings.

Earlswood offers a peaceful countryside setting with Forestry Commission land, walks and rural scenery close at hand, while remaining within easy reach of Chepstow, Caldicot and wider road links towards Bristol, Cardiff and the M4/M48 corridor.
