Description

Highfields Cottage is a truly unique period home, originally forming four individual cottages dating back to the 1650s. Over time, the property was combined and later reconfigured to create one substantial dwelling, with the final transformation into a single residence taking place during the 1980s.

More recently, in 2022, the property underwent further thoughtful reconfiguration and enhancement under the guidance of respected local architects, David Granger Architects, helping to create the well-balanced and versatile layout seen today.

Planning permission has also been granted for the creation of a fifth bedroom and additional en-suite bathroom, offering excellent scope for further extension or reconfiguration, with plans available upon request.

Accommodation - Ground Floor

Entering through the front door, you are welcomed into a striking entrance hall where character immediately comes to the fore, with exposed timbers and a sense of space enhanced by the open staircase. The staircase itself is a standout feature, finished with a contemporary glass balustrade which continues onto the galleried landing above, creating a real design statement. Off the hallway, the sitting room is positioned to the front elevation, offering a more relaxed and cosy reception space. The dining room is another beautifully presented room, featuring exposed beams and a pleasant outlook to the front, providing an ideal setting for formal dining and entertaining. The living room is a generous and inviting space with a window to the front elevation, while double opening doors lead through into the conservatory, allowing the two spaces to work seamlessly together. To the rear, the kitchen/breakfast room is both stylish and practical, fitted with a range of units and complemented by exposed beams which add further character. This space flows effortlessly into the conservatory, creating a superb open-plan feel. The conservatory is undoubtedly one of the standout features of the home, flooded with natural light via a striking roof lantern and extensive glazing, with bi-folding doors opening onto the garden and framing views across the swimming pool and grounds. This is a superb everyday living and entertaining space. Leading off, the utility room is a particularly bright and well-designed area, enhanced by extensive glazing and providing useful external access.

First Floor

Moving to the first floor, the sense of quality continues with a galleried landing overlooking the hallway below, finished with the same contemporary glass balustrade and feature lighting, creating a real feeling of space and light. The remaining bedrooms are all well-proportioned, three of which benefit from built-in wardrobes, and are served by a beautifully appointed family bathroom fitted with a four-piece suite including a separate shower cubicle.
