A gem in the heart of Sóller, this property exudes the authenticity of traditional local homes. Stone floors, irregular walls, and a blend of wood and plaster create an inviting atmosphere from the moment you enter.

Spanning approximately 200 m² over three floors, the home welcomes you with a grand arched entrance, currently serving as a dining area perfect for hosting large gatherings and dinners. On the mezzanine level, there's a completely independent apartment featuring a fireplace, dining area, private patio, and kitchen.

The first floor comprises a spacious bedroom, a bathroom, and custom-made wooden bunk beds designed for children.

The second floor mirrors the first, offering another bedroom, a bathroom, and a bespoke single bed. The top floor boasts a living room with a fireplace, an open-plan kitchen, and a delightful small terrace with panoramic mountain views.

Additional features include a practical storage room and air conditioning in some rooms. Although there are three main bedrooms, the house can accommodate up to nine people, thanks to three additional adaptable beds for extra guests.

This peaceful haven inspires harmony and offers a sense of well-being and comfort.
