LOCATION

Haydon Hill is an estate constructed in the late 70's/early 80's to the north west of Aylesbury's Town Centre. The development consists mainly of 2, 3 and 4 bed houses and backs onto fields at the rear offering good opportunity for Dog-walking. The estate is within walking distance of the Aylesbury Parkway Train Station which offers mainline services into London Marylebone. There is good access by road towards Bicester and the M40 Junction 9. There are many amenities within walking distance including a Tesco Express, Doctors Surgery, Pub/Restaurant and Primary and Secondary Schooling.

ACCOMMODATION

Upon entering, a porch provides useful space for coats and shoes before leading through to the main accommodation.

The heart of the home is the open-plan living room and kitchen, creating a bright and sociable space for both everyday family life and entertaining. To the front of the room, the kitchenette area provides space for a cooker, while there is ample room for both living and dining furniture.

The kitchen area to the rear is fitted with a range of units and incorporates an inset gas hob with oven and extractor over, together with an integrated fridge freezer and dishwasher.

The sunroom provides an additional versatile reception space, with doors opening directly onto the rear garden.

A particularly versatile feature of the property is the ground-floor accommodation, which offers a flexible arrangement of living and sleeping space with separate external access. The ground floor includes two bedrooms, one of which benefits from its own WC, together with a separate shower room with space and plumbing for a washing machine. The existing kitchenette and living accommodation further enhance the flexibility of this part of the property. This well-planned ground-floor space provides a range of potential uses, making it particularly well suited to multigenerational living, accommodating an older family member, adult children or guests. It could also provide a practical space for those working from home or anyone who would benefit from having living, sleeping and bathroom facilities on one level. The separate external access adds further flexibility and convenience.

To the first floor, the landing provides access to the remaining three bedrooms and family bathroom, as well as the loft space, providing excellent additional accommodation for family living.

Externally, the property benefits from an enclosed rear garden, featuring a patio area, lawn and established trees, providing a pleasant private outdoor space. A large garden shed offers useful additional storage and benefits from both light and power.

To the front of the property is a driveway providing off-road parking.
