INTRODUCTION

North Court farm is located on the north east side of the village of Old Wives Lees and includes a well-appointed period farmhouse, a large range of traditional and modern farm buildings with planning potential and about 130 acres of mainly Grade II former orchard land. For many years North Court Farm has been used for top fruit production taking advantage of its easy working loamy soils and gently sloping aspects. In recent years the Vendors have diversified into vine production in part and the farm ceased growing apples on the remainder. These orchards are in the process of being grubbed and are considered suitable for a wide range of cropping. The farm buildings, previously used for packing, cold storage and staff accommodation, and are now redundant and planning permission has been lodged for up to 7 residential units. In addition a large modern building extending to over 8,000ft² is considered to have potential for change of use and is lotted separately.

LOCATION

Old Wives Lees is a small, rural village located about 6 miles southwest of Canterbury, set within the gently undulating North Downs countryside. The village itself has limited amenities, with the nearest options in Chilham which is only around 1 mile to the south. Chilham has two pubs, a small shop & post office, a primary school, and a Railway Station and Chartham (about 3 miles), which also has a station, convenience shops, a GP surgery, and a pub. For a more comprehensive range of facilities and amenities the City of Canterbury is 6 miles to the northeast and offers schooling, shopping, sporting and entertainment options. Rail connections are available from Chilham and Chartham railway stations to London in little over an hour and Selling train station which is on the Victoria Line. Access to the motorway network is via rural lanes connecting to junction 7 of the M2 motorway, (at Brenley Corner). The M20 can be reached via Ashford around 8 miles away at junction 10.

LOT 2

FARMYARD & BUILDINGS - 3.80 acres

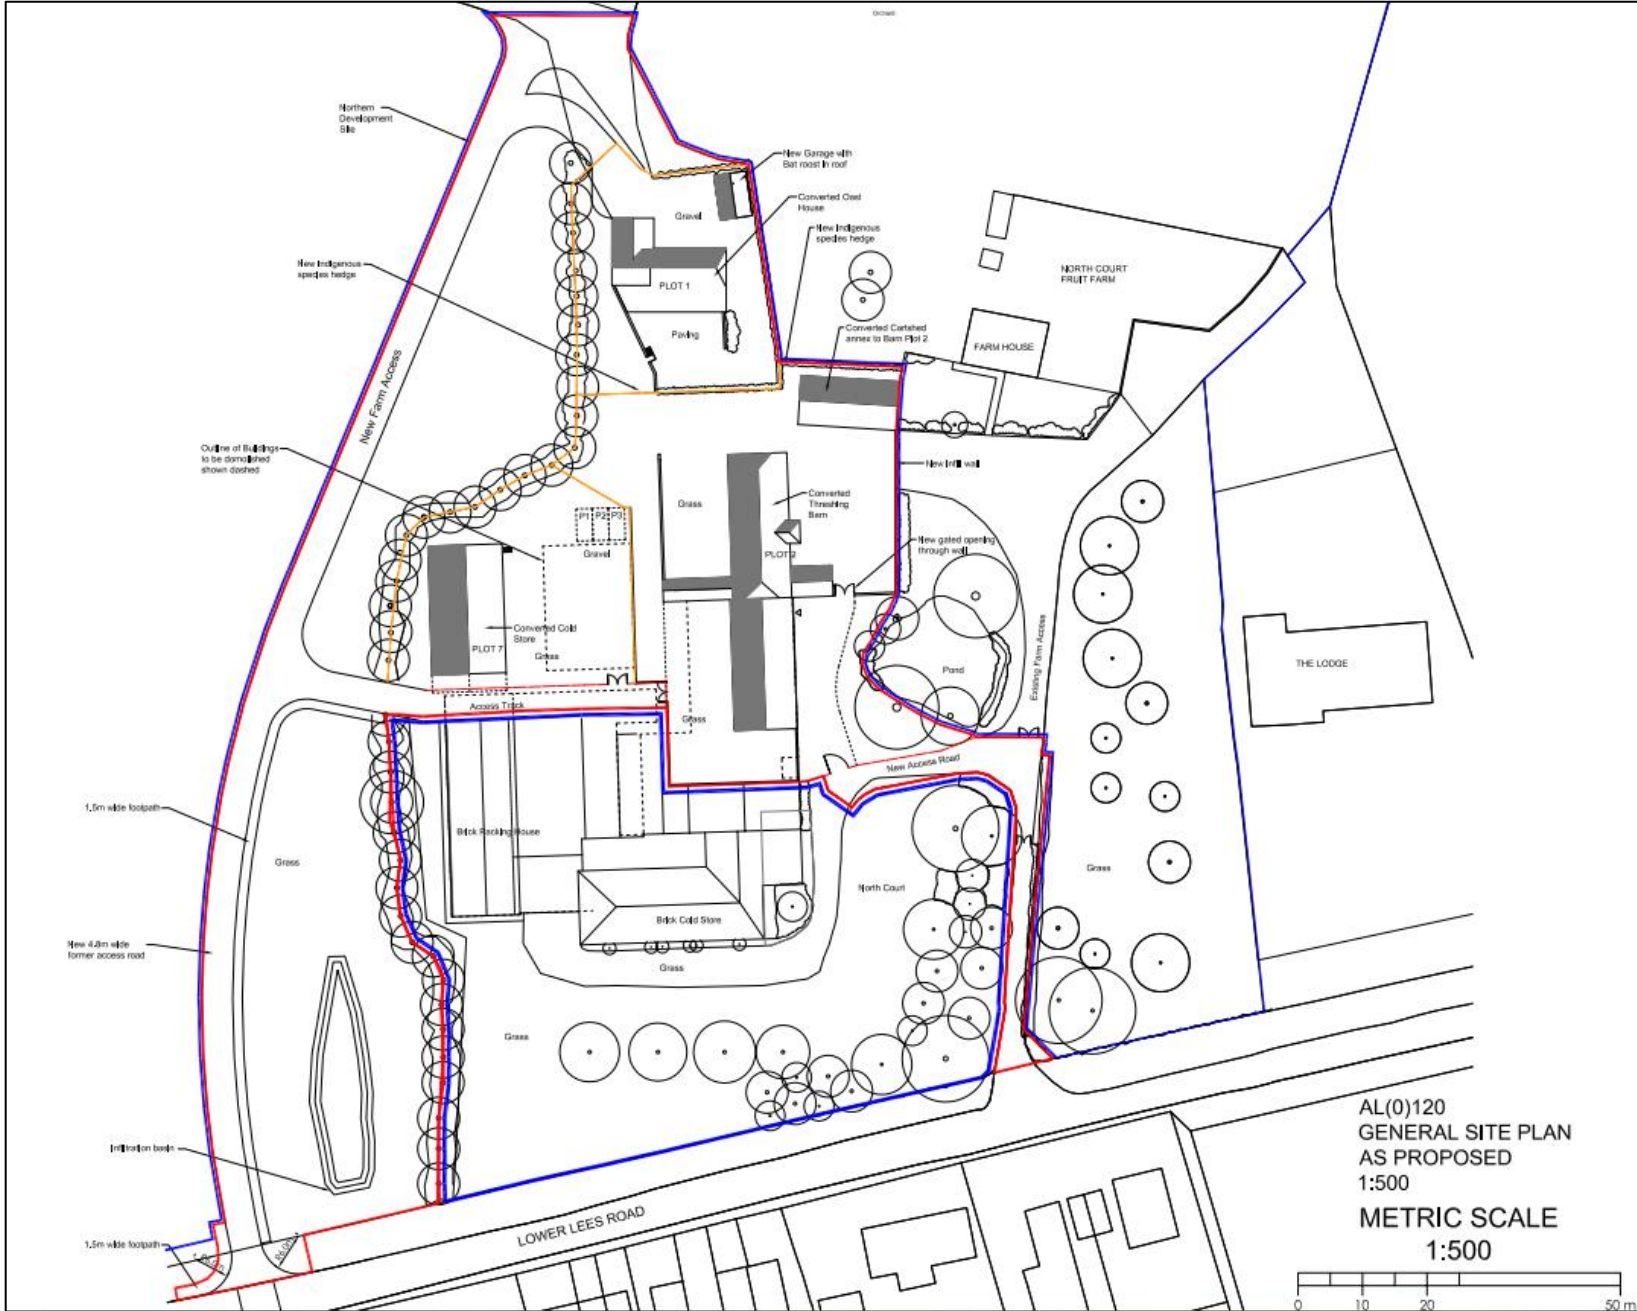

This Lot comprises several historic and modern agricultural buildings which are now surplus to requirements. The location of the buildings is shown on the block plan provided. The total area to be converted under the residential planning applications is 18,407ft² and the area to be demolished is 18,645ft².

For planning and descriptive purposes, the farmyard area has been divided into a northern and southern part, as two planning applications have been submitted since 2020 and prior to that a Class Q application on the south yard was approved in 2019.

(North): This application largely covers the conversion of the historic buildings, including the Threshing Barn, Annex, the Oast and one modern barn conversion in the Coldstore building. This application has not been decided but is available on the Ashford Borough Council website portal, reference 20/01240/AS.
