Tucked away in a quiet, leafy cul de sac in North Reigate, this 1960's detached home is well suited to any growing family. Typical of the mid century era, the rooms are well proportioned and bright with large windows letting the natural light flood in.

The tone is set as soon as you step into the spacious hallway, there is ample space for coats and shoes and the staircase rises up to the galleried landing above. The living room stretches from front to back and provides access through sliding doors to the decked terrace. There are double doors through to another reception room which could be used as a family room, dining room or home office and this leads into the modern kitchen dining room which also spans the full depth of the house.

Upstairs, the galleried landing is full of light and provides access to the four generously proportioned, double bedrooms. Each room has built in storage and there is an en suite to the main bedroom as well as the family bathroom. The rooms to the rear have stunning views towards Reigate Hill, creating a peaceful and scenic backdrop.
