8 PINGLEY VALE

DESCRIPTION

Privately positioned at the end of a driveway within this exclusive development, the property enjoys an enviable outlook across open paddocks and farmland to the rear, creating a wonderful sense of space and tranquillity. Despite its peaceful position, Brigg town centre and its excellent selection of amenities are within walking distance, offering an ideal balance between countryside living and everyday convenience.

The accommodation has been beautifully considered for modern family life, with generous proportions, versatile spaces and an impressive connection between the house and its surroundings.

A striking entrance hallway with oak staircase provides a welcoming first impression and leads through to a superb dual-aspect lounge. A log-burning stove forms the focal point of the room, while expansive bi-fold doors draw your eye immediately towards the gardens and open paddocks beyond. With horses occasionally wandering up to the neighbouring fence, it is a particularly special outlook and one that gives the home a character all of its own.

The real centrepiece, however, is the newly fitted kitchen. Installed in 2026, it has been finished to an excellent standard with a substantial central island, integrated appliances, contemporary cabinetry and feature pendant lighting. Rather than feeling like separate rooms, the kitchen, dining and family areas work together as one sociable living space – equally suited to busy family mornings, relaxed weekends and entertaining.

Another run of bi-fold doors opens this space directly onto the Indian sandstone terrace, creating a fantastic indoor-outdoor entertaining area and making the most of those uninterrupted rear views.

Practicality hasn't been forgotten either. A separate utility room, ground-floor WC and dedicated study provide everything required for day-to-day family life.

One of the property's more unusual features can be found above the integral double garage. Accessed via its own staircase, this substantial additional room offers tremendous flexibility. Currently ideal as a games room, it could just as easily become a large home office, gym, creative studio, cinema room or occasional guest space.

Upstairs, five genuinely generous bedrooms provide excellent accommodation for a larger family.

The principal suite takes full advantage of the property's position, with fitted wardrobes, its own en-suite shower room and a private balcony overlooking the paddocks – a fabulous place to enjoy the peace and open aspect.

The second bedroom also benefits from an en-suite, while bedrooms three and four are both excellent doubles. Bedroom five is currently arranged as a gaming room but comfortably offers the proportions required for another double bedroom.

Outside, the property continues to impress. There is ample off-road parking, an integral double garage and a beautifully positioned rear garden with Indian sandstone entertaining areas and an outlook that is difficult to replicate. CCTV is also installed around the property.

Pingley Vale has long been regarded as one of Brigg's more exclusive residential locations, and homes offering this combination of size, privacy, specification and open views rarely become available.

This is a home designed to be lived in and enjoyed – substantial enough for a growing family, versatile enough to change with them and positioned somewhere you may find very difficult to leave.
