Entrance Vestibule & Ground Floor Hallway

As you step into Sunnymead, you are welcomed by a grand timber door that opens into a beautifully presented entrance vestibule, neutrally decorated to highlight its timeless elegance. The period-tiled floor adds an authentic touch, offering a glimpse into the property's Georgian heritage. The vestibule provides practical space for cloak and shoe storage, setting the tone for both function and style.

A second stained glass timber door leads you into the inviting hallway, where modern decor meets classic features. The exposed timber floor, deep skirting boards, and ornate coving to the ceiling create a sense of grandeur, while a dado rail adds a refined finishing touch. From here, the hallway grants access to the spacious sitting room, elegant dining room, modern kitchen, and the staircase that ascends to the first floor.

The entrance is a perfect introduction to the property

Open Plan Sitting Room & Dining Room

In 2017, the internal wall between the sitting room and dining room was removed, transforming these two spaces into a stunning open-plan living area. The sitting room is a true highlight, boasting a grand sash bay window that fills the room with natural light and offers picturesque views to the front elevation. A commanding open fire serves as the focal point, complemented by an exposed timber floor, deep skirting boards, a picture rail, and ornate coving, all adding to the room's period charm. Fitted shelving and cupboards on either side of the chimney breast provide practical storage and display space.

Flowing effortlessly into the dining room, this space features a large sash window to the rear elevation, offering garden views and enhancing the room's bright, airy feel. The exposed timber floor, a grand fireplace, picture rail, and ornate coving mirror the features of the sitting room, maintaining the elegant period aesthetic. This space is perfect for entertaining and modern family life. A timber door connects the dining room to the kitchen.

Kitchen

The kitchen is a beautiful and stylish space. Featuring ample cupboards and luxurious granite worktops, it is both practical and elegant. A standout feature is the range cooker, nestled within an exposed brick chimney breast, adding character and a rustic feel to the kitchen. The Belfast sink, with drainage grooves cut into the granite, provides a touch of class, and an integrated dishwasher is present. The kitchen's tiled floor and inset spot lighting lend a contemporary touch, while two large windows flood the space with natural light. A commanding timber door leads out into the rear garden, offering easy access to outdoor dining and relaxation. From the kitchen, stairs descend into the utility room and a large cellar.

Utility Room & Cellar/Storeroom

A modern utility room that offers both practicality and style, designed to accommodate the needs of a busy household. With space for a plumbed-in washing machine and tumble dryer, this room is fully equipped for laundry tasks. A range of cupboards and shelving provides excellent storage options, while an abundance of hanging space ensures clothes can be conveniently organised. A door from the utility room leads into a spacious cellar/storage room, complete with power, making it ideal for additional storage or as a versatile workspace. The storeroom benefits from natural light through a window, and a door opens to a set of steps that lead up to the rear garden. The vendors have informed us that there is a section of an undeveloped cellar space. This is under the sitting room and can be accessed from the utility room. This area could be dug out and developed to create a usable space.
