

Richard Tress Way, E3

£475,000

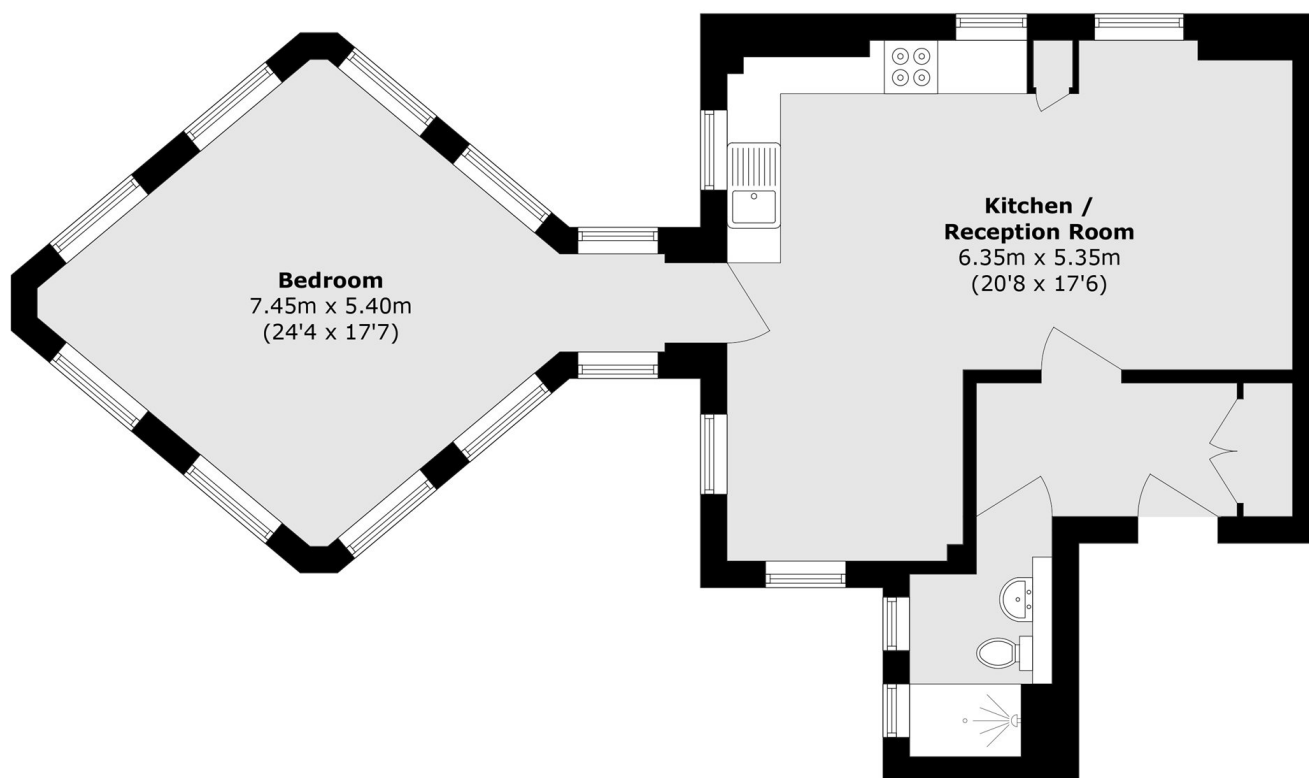

Set within a sought-after development on the cusp of Mile End Cemetery Park, with its acres of woodland, is this one-bedroom period conversion. The apartment boasts an abundance of character, featuring lofty ceilings, original windows, and a wealth of period features. The light-filled, open-plan reception room flows into a modern fitted kitchen and includes a versatile area currently used as a study, as well as a useful mezzanine level providing additional storage. The bedroom is a true standout feature, offering wraparound windows that flood the space with natural light. Completing the accommodation is a stylish bathroom.

Set back from the well-connected Bow Road, the property is ideally positioned between Mile End and Bow Road Underground stations, providing excellent transport links, along with an array of local amenities close by.
