IF YOU LIVED HERE...

There's an awful lot to love about this part of Hackney, from Sunday mornings around London Fields lido to dinner and drinks at the many independent spots scattered around Broadway Market and Mare Street. And when you're ready to retreat, this is a home that makes staying in just as tempting, with sleek interiors, great views and a host of shared spaces to enjoy.

The spacious open-plan reception and kitchen is filled with natural light, with the kitchen neatly tucked to one side and finished smart sleek units, integrated appliances and generous worktop space. You'll love that fact that there's a storage/utility cupboard to keep clutter at bay.

The private balcony adds another dimension, with elevated views across Hackney and space to sit out with a drink. The bedroom continues the apartment's smart, understated aesthetic, with built-in storage, while the bathroom has a particularly stylish finish, with bottle green tiling, brass fittings and an over-tub shower.

And then there's the building itself. The landscaped roof terrace is a real asset, offering a leafy spot to enjoy the views, while the residents' gym means you can fit in a workout without going anywhere. There's also a private cinema and secure bike storage, which is particularly handy in a neighbourhood where cycling is such an easy way to get around.

As for beyond, this is a wonderfully well-connected part of Hackney, with London Fields just moments away. Make your moving-in celebration dinner at Brat x Climpson's Arch, then head to Night Tales Loft within Neil House for cocktails afterwards. Grab breakfast from Rogue Sarnie the next morning.

The Hackney Picturehouse is also within easy walking distance, with a great mix of blockbusters and independent films, plus a cafe bar, while the legendary Hackney Empire is close by too.

Transport is plentiful, with several useful bus routes nearby, including the 55 into central London, while London Fields station provides Overground services. If you have the time and energy, it's also a surprisingly enjoyable walk into the City via Brick Lane.

WHAT ELSE?

- Despite all the urban buzz, this area has a surprisingly large amount of green space. As well as London Fields, Victoria Park is only a short stroll away, and home to some internationally renowned festivals including All Points East Festival and LIDO Festival.
- You've got two fantastically unique but entirely different markets within a short walk; Broadway Market and Mare Street Market. Start the day with a coffee at the former and finish with a pint at the latter.
- If you want to ramp up your nightlife, you'll be delighted to find that MOTH club and Oslo are close by - two excellent live music venues.
- As a resident, you can enjoy an exclusive discounted rate at the coworking space below. A great place to work, meet and connect.
