RiverHomes presents a quietly distinctive riverside home on Laleham Reach, defined by a close connection to the Thames and its slower pace of life. Positioned on a generous plot with a 75ft freehold mooring, the house sits just off a quiet road near Laleham Golf Course, with a highly insulated timber frame wrapped in fibre cement cladding. There is secure residents' parking, visitor parking, and three additional spaces on the plot itself. The approach is understated, opening into a newly renovated conservatory with underfloor heating, which in turn leads into a generous, light-filled living and dining space where the main room also benefits from underfloor heating. A contemporary kitchen sits comfortably within the plan, alongside a second bedroom and family bathroom, all oriented towards views across the gardens, mooring and river beyond. Upstairs, the principal suite has been carefully arranged to take full advantage of its setting, with a walk-in wardrobe, en suite shower room and elevated views across the Thames and surrounding landscape. The grounds extend the living space outdoors, offering a collection of well-considered ancillary buildings including an insulated workshop, gym and office, as well as a potting shed and greenhouse, lending themselves equally to creative or practical use. This is a home shaped as much by its setting as its architecture, where river life is part of the everyday. Chertsey and Staines stations provide direct connections into London Waterloo in around 40 minutes, while the M25 is within easy reach.
