Front of the home

This splendid detached double-fronted home is just one of two properties at the top of a tarmac drive, leading up from the High Street. The stone-built home has magnificent panoramic views across the valley. In the centre of this symmetrical home is the original composite front door, with gravel beds in front, where there is space for seating from which to enjoy the views. It is peaceful and tranquil.

Steps on the left lead up to the rear garden. Just across the driveway is a small sloping lawn with trees and bushes. Around to the right is a wide tarmac parking area in front and to the left of the detached stone-built double garage. There is room here to park 3-4 vehicles. The new main front door is set beneath a sturdy gabled oak porch, with a separate door into the Utility Room immediately to the right.

Enter the home through the contemporary red part-glazed composite front door, with chrome handle and letterbox, which has a wall-mounted light overhead.

Entrance Hallway

This impressive entrance to the home hugely benefits from the extension, comprising of a new porch with vaulted ceiling, two Velux windows and large ceiling pendant. The current owners have reconfigured the layout, with a stunning light oak-and-glass staircase leading up to the first floor and down to the lower ground floor. It now creates a breathtaking entrance.

The solid light oak floor flows through the hallway, up and down the stairs and into the open plan kitchen-dining-living room. The hallway has another ceiling light fitting, modern vertical radiator in a recess, panelled door to the shower room and three curved wide steps up to the kitchen-dining room.

Rear Garden

The attractive, tranquil garden is accessed from the living room and via the gate and steps from the front of the home. It includes a large dining patio, pond, wildflower garden, lawn and woodland walk.

A decorative iron gate from the front opens to wide stone-filled steps past a log store to the dining patio. With a pond and water feature in front and gabled timber shed on the left, there is lots of space for outdoor seating and dining. On the exterior wall of the home is lighting and power points. Immediately beyond the pond is a beautiful managed wildlife garden with a path meandering through and up to an elevated patio area with stone paving and gravel bed. Newly-laid and illuminated curved stone steps on the right offer a more direct route up.

At the elevated patio, a path heads right adjacent to the roofline of the house and garage, with flower beds and a field fence on the left. Beyond are rolling farmland fields stretching to the horizon.

Six steps continue up from the upper patio to the long neat rectangular lawn, with four raised flower beds. At the far end is a large versatile insulated timber cabin which can be a home office, summer house, hobby or games room with power, half-glazed double doors and east facing window. To the right is a long shed which is part of the same building. There is space behind and on both sides for outdoor storage.

The magical extra bonus is a woodland walk. Another well-maintained natural area, this is accessed from the lawn through a curved arch, with about 20 slate bed steps down to a quiet sheltered path through your own private woodland, then back up to the dining patio.
